- Boy: Oh, look, Mum. Lots of nice things ... footballs ... books ... and there's a bike. Can we look at the bike? Please, Mum?
- Woman: No, we don't need another bike. Er, excuse me ... excuse me ... how much is the calculator, please?
- Luca: The calculator ... let me see ... er, it's one pound.
- Woman: One pound. OK. Here you are. Thanks.
- Luca: OK. Thanks!
- Girl: Are these mobile phones OK?
- Luca: Yeah, they're very good. But they have no sim cards.
- Girl: That's OK. I have a sim card. How much is one mobile?
- Luca: Ah ... Nine pounds fifty.
- Girl: Oh. That's too much.
- Boy: Can I see the crab, please?
- Luca: Sure. Here it is. It's only fifty p.
- Boy: Fifty p. OK. Here you are.
- Luca: Thanks.
- Man: Is the computer OK?
- Luca: Yes, it's old, but it's good. And there's a printer too.
- Girl 2: Sorry, how much are the posters?
- Luca: Two pounds fifty each.
- Girl 2: I'll take these two. Here's five pounds.
- Luca: Thanks.
- Man: How much is the computer?
- Luca: Oh, er ... it's erm ... twenty pounds.
- Woman 2: I'll take this schoolbag, please.
- Luca: OK. That's five pounds fifty, please.
- Woman 2: OK. Here you are. Thanks.
- Luca: Thank you.
- Woman 1: How much is the school blazer?
- Luca: It's new. It's too small for me. It's ten pounds.
- Boy 2: Er, excuse me. How much are the footballs, please?
- Luca: The footballs ... er ... they're four pounds. OK?
- Boy 2: I can give you three pounds.
- Luca: No, sorry! Four pounds.
